Decolonising Reading Lists

Jess Crilly (Associate Director for Content and Discovery, Library Services) and Lucy Panesar (Progression and Attainment Project Manager, LCC)
Contents

- Academic Enhancement Model
- The new UAL guide
- Liberation origins
- From Liberating to Decolonising
- Library’s recommendations
Academic Enhancement Model

A cross-university enhancement approach that provides support to courses that fall below UAL benchmarked thresholds for student satisfaction, attainment and continuation.
The new UAL guide

- As part of the AEM Toolbox
- Aimed at course teams
- Co-designed with Library
- Renamed ‘Decolonising’
Liberation origins

LCC Liberating the Curriculum project is an open call for students and staff to champion and celebrate the liberating effect of books, text and resources. We hope that, through this initiative, staff and students across a course will be encouraged and inspired to explore wider sources to enhance their studies or scholarship.

The project team will ideally be made up of students from across the course, a nominated member of the academic course team, UAL Educational Diversity Technologist as well as the course academic support lecturer and librarian.

Students will receive £200 award for their participation.

STEP BY STEP GUIDE TO THE PROJECT

Phase 1 - Project meeting to agree auditing framework/timelines
Phase 2 - Students audit unit level reading lists/resources
Phase 3 - Meeting to discuss findings/ area for enhancement
Phase 4 - Project team explores alternative resources
Phase 5 - Meeting agrees revised reading lists
Phase 6 - Revised reading list/resources published

Student can submit expression of interests here or contact z.sukabill@lcc.arts.ac.uk

The project is funded by LCC’s Teaching Innovation and Learning fund and is inspired by the Arts Student Union campaign which seeks to ensure a fair representation of ethnically diverse, queer, disabled and feminist thought in all courses.

Project call-out poster (2018)
From Liberating to Decolonising

Decolonising the Arts Curriculum Zine 1 (2018) and 2 (2019) available at: https://decolonisingtheartscurriculum.myblog.arts.ac.uk/
Library recommendations

16 recommendations to mainstream
Thank you